LONG BIOGRAPHY

Madley is a twenty-five-year-old indie pop artist from Charlotte, North Carolina, raised in a family where the arts were not a hobby but the thing the house ran on. Their songs work a narrow, deliberate band of feeling -- love, hope, loss and sorrow, often all inside the same three minutes -- with the stated aim of keeping company with anyone in the middle of a healing journey. The influence Madley names first is Rebecca Sugar's soundtrack for Steven Universe, audible in the construction more than the surface: short songs carrying more weight than their runtime suggests, and an unembarrassed willingness to say the difficult thing plainly. Madley writes and produces alongside their sister, Winter Grace. The catalogue opens with Christmas for Dep-Rest of Us in December 2023, runs through nine singles in 2024, and arrives at PAPERHEARTS in January 2025 and its thirteen-track reopening, PATCHWORKHEARTS, on Valentine's Day 2026.
